Situation in Mecca

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

Huzoor (aba) continued the account of the life of Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) bin Umair.

Coronavirus
outbreak

The Holy Prophet (sa) faced intense opposition in preaching the message of Unity of God in Mecca and received many divine signs that he would have to emigrate to a place with wells and date-groves.

Funeral
prayer

During this time, the annual Hajj drew near, and pilgrims from all parts of Arabia arrived in Mecca.

The Holy Prophet (sa) extended his preaching message to a group of men from the the Khazraj tribe of Medina, this tribe was in alliance with the Jews of Medina.

The group became much impressed and accepted the Message.

They promised, on their return to Medina, to confer with others and report next year whether Medina would be willing to receive Muslim refugees from Mecca.

Subsequently, they returned and conferred with their friends and relations.

There were, at the time, two Arab and three Jewish tribes at Medina.

At last, they called truce and agreed to acknowledge the Khazraj Chief, Abdullah bin Ubayy bin Salul, as King of Medina.

Message reaches Medina

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

The Jews of Medina used to talk to the people of Medina about the advent of a Prophet 'like unto Moses'.

Coronavirus
outbreak

People of Medina wondered if the prophet in Mecca is the promised one and were interested in his message.

Funeral
prayer

At the next Hajj twelve men from Medina came to Mecca with the intention to join the Holy Prophet (sa)'s faith.

Ten of these belonged to the Khazraj and two to the Aus tribe.

Bai'at e Aqabah

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

In the valley of Mina and, holding the Holy Prophet (sa)'s hand, they solemnly declared their belief in the Oneness of God.

Coronavirus
outbreak

This Bai'at is called Bai'at e Aqabah; 'Aqabah' means a valley or a mountain that is difficult to manoeuvre through or a difficult mountainous path.

Funeral
prayer

When they returned to Medina, they spread the message of Islam to their people, which was keenly received.

Therefore the Holy Prophet (sa) sent one of his young companions, Mus'ab (ra) bin 'Umair to assist them and to teach the faith to the Muslims.

Migration to Medina

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

When these people returned to Medina, Islam spread in Medina within a very short period of time.

Coronavirus
outbreak

Hence, the Holy Prophet (sa) sent some more companions to them, including Hazrat Umar (ra).

Funeral
prayer

After that, upon receiving the command to migrate, the Holy Prophet (sa) also went to Medina.

Upon his arrival, all the idolaters of Medina accepted Islam within a very short period.

Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) bin 'Umair participated in the Battles of Badr and Uhud.

During the Battles of Badr and Uhud, the main flag of the Muhajireen was being carried by Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) bin 'Umair.

Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) bin 'Umair was martyred during the Battle of Uhud.

He fought valiantly and defended the honour of the flag till the last minute of his life.

Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) was just over forty at the time of martyrdom.

When the Holy Prophet (sa) approached the body of Hazrat Mus'ab (ra), it was turned face down. The Holy Prophet (sa) stood beside it and recited the following verse: 'Among the believers are men who have been true to the covenant they made with Allah. There are some of them who have fulfilled their vow, and some who still wait, and they have not changed their condition in the least.'

Then, the Holy Prophet (sa) addressed the companions and said that "you should visit him and send your salutations upon him. By that Being, in Whose hand lies my life, he will answer the salutations of everyone who will send salutations upon him until the day of judgment."

Martyrdom of Hazrat Mus'ab (ra)

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) had the special divine status of a companion and a guardian of the Holy Prophet of God

He was well-mannered and conflict-averse individual.

Coronavirus
outbreak

When people informed Hazrat Hamnah bint Jahsh (ra), the wife of Hazrat Mus'ab (ra) of his martyrdom, she became distressed and cried. At this, the Holy Prophet (sa) said,

“A husband holds a special status in the eyes of his wife.”

The Holy Prophet (sa) also prayed for the children of Hazrat Mus'ab (ra), saying,

‘O Allah, be their Guardian and Protector, treat them with kindness and affection and take good care of them.’

God Almighty did indeed take good care of them as the prayer of the Holy Prophet (sa) was accepted.

Outbreak of the coronavirus

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

I would now like to draw the attention of the Jamaat to the current outbreak of the coronavirus.

Coronavirus
outbreak

We must all adhere to the precautionary measures that are set out by governments and the health departments.

From the outset, after consultation with some homeopaths, I advised about the use of certain homeopathic remedies, as a precautionary measure as well as for treatment.

Funeral
prayer

May Allah the Almighty grant cure through them.

Thus, we ought to use them and at the same time we must adhere to the precautionary measures that have been outlined

6th March
2020

Preventative measure

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

In relation to this, it is advised that you should avoid large gatherings.

Coronavirus
outbreak

People coming to the mosque should err on the side of caution.

There are certain etiquettes of the mosque, among them is that if one is suffering from something such as a contagious illness – which can affect others – they should avoid coming to the mosque.

Funeral
prayer

One preventative measure mentioned by the Doctors is that one's hands and mouth should always be clean

If one's hands are unclean, they should not touch their face, or ensure that they use hand sanitizers or they should wash their hands regularly.

Funeral

In our case – who pray five times a day and also perform the ablution in the correct manner, including cleaning the nose with water etc, then this high standard of hygiene is such that it can compensate the shortage of sanitizers.

If the ablution is performed in the correct manner, this can not only help towards physical cleanliness, but the subsequent prayer, then in turn becomes a means for their spiritual cleanliness as well.

Moreover, in these days we must pay particular attention towards our prayers.

Furthermore, it is being advised that one should refrain from shaking hands and this is also extremely important, as one does not know what the hands are contaminated with.

6th March
2020

Hand shakes

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

Although shaking hands increases mutual bond and instils mutual love, however, owing to the current outbreak these days, it is better to avoid this practice.

Coronavirus
outbreak

Even those people who previously raised an outcry that we do not shake hands with men or women of the opposite gender, have themselves been a target of amusement.

Funeral
prayer

They were not willing to adhere to the commandments of Allah the Almighty, but nonetheless the spread of this outbreak has drawn their attention towards this injunction

May Allah the Almighty also enable them to draw closer to Him.

Outbreak of the coronavirus

Hazrat

Coronavirus
outbreak

Funeral
prayer

Allah the Almighty knows best to what extent this epidemic will spread and what He has decreed

If this virus has emerged owing to the Divine wrath of God, as since the advent of the Promised Messiah (as) there has been a significant increase in the number of epidemics, diseases, earthquakes and storms

Then one ought to turn towards God Almighty more than ever before to be safeguarded from these

Every Ahmadi ought to pay particular attention towards prayers and also to improve their spiritual condition

Tanzeel Ahmad Butt, son of Aqeel Ahmad Butt Sahib

He was a young 11-year-old child who passed away on 27th February 2020, in fact, in my opinion he was a martyr. He was martyred and his body was hidden in a suitcase. Verily to Allah we belong and to Him shall we return

Tanzeel Ahmad Butt was born on 20th November 2009 in Lahore and was part of the Waqf-e-Nau scheme. He was a very active member of the Atfal-ul-Ahmadiyya and would regularly take part in all Jama'at programmes

He was counted amongst the intelligent students in his class and was studying in the fourth year. After his demise, his exam results were announced and he stood first in his class attaining 729 marks out of 750.

The deceased's mother states, "Tanzeel was the most obedient out of all my children. If he ever wanted to do something, he would always seek permission from me first...."

Funeral prayer

Hazrat
Mus'ab (ra)

Tanzeel Ahmad Butt, son of Aqeel Ahmad Butt Sahib

If any of the neighbours or an office-bearer asked him to do something, he would immediately do it and never refuse. In fact, at times even the neighbour who killed him would get him to do some chores.

His schoolteachers and Jama'at office-bearers were all very happy with him and would always praise him. He would regularly watch programmes on MTA, especially programmes for children and the sermons.

He would regularly attend the mosque for prayers. If ever his father would return from the factory very tired and would be unwilling to go to the mosque, he would persist and force him to take him to the mosque.”

May Allah the Almighty grant him His nearness and grant the murders a punishment they truly deserve. May God Almighty also grant patience and comfort to the parents.
